Helium Trip Reaps Optimism

Two West Texas State University coeds cut across the campus on their way to classes Wednesday morning through moderate snows which fell over the city. The coeds are Shirley Leatherwood, left, of Lamesa, and Bobbie Powers of White Deer.

Snow Stops City Spring

When the freeze moved in Monday, local residents hurried to preserve their fruit trees. This tree is covered with blankets and a fire was burning under it earlier Tuesday. Nevertheless, an Amarillo nurseryman says fruit crops are probably doomed.

Just when everyone felt that spring had finally come, a snow-bearing cold front whipped into the county about noon Monday, deposited light amounts of sleet Tuesday and climaxed with a moderate snow cover Wednesday.

The cold front, which dropped temperatures about 40 degress in less than an hour about 12:30 p.m. Monday, killed any hopes of crops for peach and apricot tree owners in the city, according to a nurseryman.

Only a trace of moisture--in the form of sleet and very light snow--fell over the city throughout the day Tuesday.

The snow began falling shortly after 5 a.m. Wednesday and accumulations of as much as three inches were expected by late Wednesday.

Early morning traffic was stymied on slick city streets, but the most hazardous driving was for Amarillo students and teachers at West Texas State University and Canyon residents who had to travel U. S. 87 between the two cities.

Reports before 9 a.m. Wednesday indicated the steep hill by Buffalo Bowl north of Canyon was very slick but highway department crews were reported working on the slope shortly after.

For farmers the small amount of moisture which may be gleaned from the snow will probably not be of much significance for crops, according to John Brazzil, county agent.

"Moisture is always welcome," he said. "But in such a light amount, I don't think it will make much difference."

Even though city streets were somewhat icey during the morning Wednesday, the snow began melting from the streets between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. as the temperature rose slowly.

The low temperature Tuesday was 23 and the high was 27.

The low for Wednesday was 25 and by noon the temperature stood at 26.

An Amarillo nurseryman said the trees hardest hit by the frost were peach and apricot trees.

"I'm pretty sure it got 95 per cent of the peach and apricot trees in this area," he said.

He said the effect of the cold was heightened for the fruit trees because the freeze was dry.

Nevertheless, many fruit tree owning residents piled blankets on their trees, some lit smudge pots and others left trees naked to the wind.

The nurseryman was optimistic, however, about the outlook for apple, pear, plum and cherry trees, which he said had not budded when the cold front blew in.

More optimistic, too, is the forecast and outlook for today through Sunday.

A spokesman at the U. S. Weather Bureau in Amarillo said the forecast for today calls for decreasing cloudiness and low temperatures with higher temperatures expected for this

A West Texas State University official, who met Wednesday with Department of Interior representatives, came from the meeting encouraged and optimistic about a project to move helium research facilities to the Canyon campus.

Dr. Emmitt Smith, vice president of WTSU for research and development, told The Canyon News the meeting was just the beginning of what could be several months of negotiation.

Dr. Smith was in Washington D. C., with several area representatives, including members of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, Amarillo's city government, the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and the Amarillo helium research center.

The vice president presented a proposal to Department of the Interior officials that present helium research programs conducted in Amarillo be moved to the WTSU campus.

The government has announced it will phase out the helium research facility in Amarillo by mid-summer.

The six Panhandle officials met with Hollis Dole, assistant secretary of the Department of Interior for mineral resources, and Capt. George Burns of the U. S. Navy. They met in the office of U. S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa.

"We made the presentation and Assistant Secretary Dole expressed real interest particularly in the regional enthusiasm illustrated by the group there and he promised to give our proposal a very thorough

WT Art Banquet Set Friday Night

A member of the Governor's Fine Arts Commission will be guest speaker Friday night at a banquet which will kick off three days of seminars, discussions and exhibits on the West Texas State University campus.

Eddie Melin of Amarillo will speak at 7:30 p.m. at the Villa Inn in Amarillo for the first event of the second annual Fine Arts Festival, sponsored by WTSU by Kappa Pi, international art fraternity, and the art department.

During the banquet, Dr. Emilio Caballero, art department head, will present a Fine Arts Hall of Fame Award and a Kappa Pi Scholarship Award.

"A New Decade of Art," is theme for this year's festival.

Following the banquet, the festival will open Saturday with a 9:30 a.m. pottery demonstration by Don Markham, professor of art at Amarillo College.

A seminar panel, including Amarillo artists, will discuss the new decade of art at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Fine Arts Building.

Panelists for the seminar include Peter Fox, director of the Amarillo Little Theatre, Ben Konis, an Amarillo artist, Mrs. Ardis Martin, also of Amarillo, Dr. Caballero and Dr. Eduard Schmutzer, assistant professor of government at WTSU.

At 7 p.m. Saturday, "The Laughing '20s," a movie by Laurel and Hardy will be shown in the Olympic Theatre.

Henry Hopkins, director of the Ft. Worth Art Association, will lecture interested persons at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Fine Arts Building auditorium. His lecture will follow a 1 p.m. reception in the FAB formal lounge.

Konis will demonstrate painting at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the FAB intimate theater.

Throughout the three-day festival a Milton Zornes painting, 'Off Todas Santenos," will be on display. It will be sold Sunday afternoon to the highest bidder.

Paintings by Dr. Robert Hobbs, WT professor of art, will be on display in the formal lounge of the FAB throughout the festival. John Duffey, a California sculptor, will exhibit works in the FAB foyer.

Student art work will be on display on the second floor of the FAB.

County Judge Salary Would Be Cut

Petition Would Abolish School Board

BY CARROLL WILSON

Randall County Commissioners initiated a petition Monday which could result in the abolition of the Randall County School Board.

Commissioners were not optimistic about the result of their actions, but followed a suggestion by Randall County Judge Carroll Brown.

The petition calls for an election to decide the fate of the school board.

If the electorate vote to abolish the board, the action would mean a substantial cut in salary for the Randall County Judge.

A total of 4,500 signatures of voters who voted in the last gubernatorial election must be on the petition to call the election.

Judge Brown told commissioners the school board has no function and that therefore the county judge, who serves as superintendent, also has no real function.

"You may remember that Randall County used to have 25 common school districts," he said. "Last summer, we consolidated the last one, the Umbarger Common School District into the Canyon Independent School District."

The judge said currently the county judge acting as county school superintendent functions in only two ways:

"One, he approves bus routes for the independent school district," he said, "and two, he okays the purchase of tires for school buses."

The judge said "with just these duties, there isn't any excuse for us having a total budget of $5,300 per year out of school funds."

The $5,300 comes from state educational funds and not from the Canyon school district.

Brown said the county judge has been paid $200 per month as school superintendent and his secretary has been paid a like amount as secretary of the school board.

Whatever duties must be performed by a county school superintendent, he said, could still be managed by the county judge even if the school board were abolished.

Commissioner Jim Fletcher said he served on the county school board two years and met just twice.

If the election abolishes the board, the judge said his secretary's salary would have to be increased to compensate for the loss.

"I want to do away with it," Glenn Dowlen said, "but we've got some people running for county judge and they're running for that salary."

Judge Brown is currently at the state maximum for county

College Protests Strengthen Hanoi

United States foreign policy aims to make Vietnam another Laos rather than making Laos another Vietnam, a West Texas State University history professor told Rotarians Tuesday.

Dr. John Kahler, speaking of U. S. policy in various areas of the world, said currently only military advisors are working in Laos.

Kahler noted that the Vietnam conflict began with just military advisors in that country, but he said American officials are striving to reverse the flow of the troops in Vietnam and essentially to return to the advisor capacity.

Dr. Kahler said the analogy between the situation in Laos and early situations in Vietnam is not definitely true.

"There are some factors in common," he said. "But, there are significant differences."

He said the Laotian people have always had a fear of and dislike of the Vietnamese. They have feared attack by the expansionist Vietnamese and Kahler said the Laotions will view the recent attacks by North Vietnamese with hostility.

Of Vietnam, Dr. Kahler responded to an audience question by saying he feels student protestors on American college campuses have reinforced North Vietnamese assumptions that the United States will lose its morale and sooner or later quit the war.

"The supposition by the leadership in Hanoi has been confirmed that the U. S. will eventually collapse," he said, "that all they have to do is keep going year after year and our will will collapse."

Dr. Kahler said such protests have also doomed the Paris peace talks to nothing more than worthless rhetoric.

The professor said the Vietnamese people have a history of fighting lengthy wars--one even lasted about 75 years.

"One basic way of beating that," he said, "is Vietnami-

The Evil Eye Will Focus On Highway

BY SAM ALLRED

A woman driving a late-model white pickup toward Hereford Monday afternoon can be extremely thankful it was only a test; at any other time her speed of 79 miles-per-hour could have warranted an expensive citation.

Department of Public Safety Patrolman Ron Boyter had installed a brand-new radar set in his patrol car only minutes before the incident and had invited two judges, a representative from the radar company and a reporter along for a field test.

The judges, Randall County Judge Carroll Brown and Justice of the Peace A. A. "Bill" Wilson, agreed with other observers that the radar set is a fantastic piece of machinery.

The set, which is completely portable, has a range of one-half to three-quarters of a mile for cars and up to a mile for trucks, with an accuracy reading of one-tenth of a mile per hour at 100 miles per hour.

The set is built by Kustom Signals, Inc., of Chanute, Kan., and was purchased by the DPS Monday on a lease-purchase plan after two months of field testing. The unit costs $1,785 and is being added to more and more law enforcement vehicles in the Panhandle.

Boyter, who is stationed with the DPS unit in Canyon and patrols Randall County, said he was not only satisfied with the set but that he was "completely thrilled with it."

"There is so much speeding on the Expressway and in Randall County in general I feel this will be a

WT Spring Training Starts; Game Set

West Texas State University head football coach Joe Kerbel welcomed 75 players to the opening of spring drills Monday and was pleased with the outcome of the first day's work.

"It was a typical first day," he said. "Keeping that in mind, I was encouraged by the enthusiasm and dedication of the group.

"The young players show promise and the experienced ones show the effect of their experience. Our returning players had a great deal of recall on things they have learned in the past."

A cold front moved through the Panhandle Monday evening and the head coach, who is also director of athletics, laughed sadly, saying, "The weather is also typical of the start of many of our spring trainings."

Kerbel said his Buffaloes will continue to work out of doors unless it rains or snows. The Buffs are slated to workout this week Monday through Thursday and scrimmage Saturday.

The scrimmage Saturday afternoon in Buffalo Bowl will climax the annual West Texas

Skirt Length Pondered

Mini, Midi, or Maxi?

Some women, it could be said of today, will go to any length to remain in fashion.

And the lengths they go to is the focal point of a raging controversy in the current fashion world.

The basic question: Should they wear the popular (at least with men) mini-skirt, the 1930-ish midi-skirt or the turn-of-the-century maxi-skirt?

A random poll conducted by the News staff this week revealed varied opinions from dress shop owners, college coeds, parents, men and grandparents.

Canyon's women clothing dealers said they do not currently stock the new midi-skirts, which strike a woman about mid-calf.

But, they say they may after attending market in April and May.

Della Henry of De'ons said the store "will probably buy a few at market, but we're undecided right now."

She said "personally I don't like them."

Mrs. Henry feels the new midi-skirts are not a gimmick by high fashion designers to force women to change their wardrobe.

"I think it makes it where anyone can wear any length and be fashionable," she said.

Mrs. Carol Crain of Daisy's Too said she hopes maxi-coats remain fashionable "because they're practical and a lot warmer.

"I personally do not like the midi-garments," she said. "After talking to some of the girls on campus, I think it's going to take a lot of doing to get them to like them."

Mrs. Crain said she feels fashion designers are "trying to get us to change all the clothes in our closets.

"I don't think women can afford to do that," she said.

Mrs. Lilah McDonald of McDonald's agreed that she feels the new midi-length gives women a choice of lengths for her wardrobe.

"I think it's a matter of personal taste which they buy," she said.

She said mini-skirts may get longer.

Jack Jennings, owner of Jennings Dress Shop, said he doesn't feel the midi-length dresses will become "fashion of any consequence."

West Texas State University co-eds split right down the zipper on their opinions concerning the three mod

City Schools Close Friday

All schools of the Canyon Independent School District will be dismissed Friday while teachers, administrators, and secretary-clerk officials attend the day-long session of District 16, Texas State Teachers Association annual meeting.

No classes will be conducted in the public schools that day. Teachers and others involved will meet at the Amarillo Civic Center at 10 a.m. for the general session and after that will be dismissed into departmental groups for workshops, lectures, films and noon luncheon activities.

The House of Delegates will meet Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock at Caprock High School where seven members of the Randall County unit of TSTA will be among those seated as delegates including Betty Brown, Denny Park, Dr. E. B. Posey, Alma Perkins, Bryce Slack, Martha Stevens and Dr. Fred Stoker.

Radar. . .

very useful tool," he said.

The patrolman said the major advantage to the radar set, other than eliminating having to estimate speeds, is that it will do away with the high speed chase.

"On an average day we will be involved with approximately 30 chases at speeds up to 130 m. p. h.," Boyter said. "With this unit we can know of the violation and stop the vehicle before it is necessary to give pursuit."

The radar set has only two sections, the Readout Unit which sits on the dashboard of the patrol car and the Antenna Unit, which is affixed to a rear window.

The Readout unit can be preset with the legal speed limit and will then alert the patrolman of any violations through two methods.

Working automatically, the set flashes the highest speed of the vehicle in numerals and then "locks on" and holds that number until a release button is pushed.

"Once the machine has 'locked on' Ron could drive all over the county and back and it would still show the speed until he releases it," said Jimm Fuller, representative of Kustom Signals. "The only thing throwing tinfoil out the window of your car will do is increase the chances of Ron giving you a citation for being a litterbug."

The machine will also work manually, which means the set will warn the patrolman of violaters by "beeping" and flashing the speed, but will not "lock on" until a lock button is pushed.

The radar equipment is so sophisticated that it will not only tell the patrolman at what speed you are traveling, it will tell him when you spot the patrol car and when you take your foot off the accelerator.

"The set utilizes the Doppler System of sound," Boyter said. "The unit sends out a frequency that is bounced off a vehicle and then it reads the change of pitch when it comes back and gives you a reading."

Such a complicated machine can be quickly tested for calibration by a very simple method. The unit is preset at "50" and then a tuning fork is struck and held in front of the antenna. If the machine is operating properly the numeral "50" will appear in the readout window. The company supplies the tuning fork.

The unit is not designed to be wrong, according to the company representative.

"When it takes a reading it checks the reading internally four times before it flashes it," Fuller said.

The out-of-luck motorist is out of luck trying to sneak by the silent sentry and would also not have very much luck outrunning it.

"The unit can record speeds up to 199 miles per hour," Boyter said.

The driver-in-a-hurry does have one chance of slipping by the machine. Until a permanent jack is installed in the patrol car the unit plugs into the vehicl's cigarette lighter. Should Boyter happen to be lighting a cigarette the motorist is home free.

"I carry a lot of matches," said Boyter.

Commission Hears Plea For Drive

Canyon City Commissioners reheard a request Monday morning by Cecil Parkhill, owner of Modern Cleaners on the downtown square, to convert the fire-ravished Jennings Men's Store building to a drive-way.

In viewing the case at their last regular meeting, the commissioners had understood Parkhill wanted to tear down the old building to put in a driveway.

However, at Monday morning's special session, Parkhill said he wanted to use the building as an awning and put a driveway through it.

He was told by commissioners to obtain a certified architect's specifications and opinion on his proposal before the council would pass on the request.

In other business, the commission approved the seal coating of about 50 blocks during the summer months at a cost of $12,000.

Drill Team Wins Third

Seventeen men's drill teams and five women's teams competed at the meet.

The WTSU team will travel to Shamrock next week to participate in that city's St. Patrick's Day Celebration and will attend another drill meet in San Antonio in late April.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

The great silent majority of decent Americans have apparently chosen to ignore the issue of dirty movies. After all, no one is required to attend. But what about their eventual appearance on television? And what of their impact on society?

That eventuality is here. Hud, even without the generous sprinkling of crude four-letter words, was a depressing story of misery and despair, and the triumph of evil.

It is true, of course, that a man may not be what he thinks he is; but what he thinks, he is. Man's life is the product of his thoughts. Emerson said, "A man is what he thinks about all day long." Soloman said, "As a man thinks in his heart, so is he (Proverbs 23:7)."

The human brain is recognized as the greatest of all computers. And it really is a kind of computer; it has to be programmed. The operation of computers is relatively simple, but the programming requires much skill and extensive training. The yeild of any computer is absolutely dependent on the material fed into it.

Decent people cannot escape dirty movies by ignoring them. Society's conduct and opinion is strongly influenced by the movie industry, and one cannot escape society.

Historically as civilizations become pagan they tend to emphasize the value of the human body, and major on its gratification. The ancient temples of Baal maintained preistesses for the sexual gratification of the men who "worshipped" there. But that would not be tolerated in America. Don't be too sure!

In Hollywood, California, there is a "church" for homosexuals. Organized less than a year ago, it already has more than 255 members. The auditorium seating 385 is usually filled. The majority of the congregation is composed of young males.

A suit was filed against the P T & T Telephone Co. in San Francisco to force them to list four homosexual organizations as such in the telephone directory. The complaining organizations were: The Council of Religion and the Homosexual, Inc.; Society for Individual Rights, Inc.; Tavern Guild of San Francisco, Inc., and Daughters of Bilitis, Inc.

The plaintiffs lost the suit in a 3 to 2 decision. They will probably keep trying until they win.

Dr. Albert Ellis, who bills himself as a psychoanalyst and marriage counsellor, travels the college campus circuit telling the students to bed down with whom they please. He is quoted in the Fairfield County Courier of October 16, 1969, as telling an audience of 600 at the University of Bridgeport to "have as much sex as possible before you are married--as intense as possible."

Dr. Ellis began his lecture with the thesis that there is no reason for any human being to feel guilty about anything--"And I mean anything," he emphasized.

If man felt no guilt about his misdeeds it would put him on the animal level. And man cannot exist on the animal level. Years ago acientists discovered that "infant debility," the major cause of death in orphanages, was nothing more than a lack of love.

To feel appreciated is a basic human need. Love is the manifestation of appreciation. Sex without love is mere exploitation, an animal emotion--the very antithesis of love.

Do the majority of Americans really place the highest value on the body? Who has the most status in the community, the preacher--or the medical doctor?

America is becoming increasingly pagan. And the movie industry is probably the major cause. Shall we silently turn off our TV sets as we have silently avoided dirty movies? Will our children leave the TV turned off?

Even if decent people stay away from X and R movies, and burn their TV sets, society will continue to be molded by their programs. Man's thoughts are largely determined by what he sees and hears, and man tends to become what he thinks about.

Who is concerned enough about the pagan tide sweeping out beloved country to complain to the mayors, editors, TV stations, and sponsors?

If we would change the yield of our young "computers," we must first change the programs.

Woolsey Funeral Is Today

He was born August 17, 1893 in Hill County and at Happy was the former owner of the 87 Cafe and also farmed in the community.

News Brief

Four students from the senior high department of the First United Methodist Church attended the Amarillo District Rally last Sunday afternoon. They were Glenda Holladay, Sue Kirby, Karen Petitt, and Rusty Peery. Next district meeting will be April 24-26 at Ceta Canyon.

Baby Quail Are Project Of Kindergarten Students

Students of the Town 'n Country Kindergarten have a new project in their classroom on some "baby quail," according to Mrs. C. Petruccione, director.

The quail, which are about three weeks old, were hatched in the classroom and the students have been studying words from a new word list concerning the quail in addition to hearing stories and seeing pictures about the quail.

Mrs. Petruccione related that "they were unaware that water should be kept on the shell during hatching and that a number of those quail hatched in the classroom died in infancy--but Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Schram brought three small quail, hatched about the same time, to complete the family."

The quails' home in the classroom is a large cardboard box, equipped with a layer of sand in the bottom, a light for heat, and a feather duster which the quail consider as a second mother.

Tea Highlights Girl Scout Week

The highlight of Girl Scout Week this year in the Randall District will be a scout tea on Sunday, March 15, at the Charles Fowlkes home in Mescalero Park.

Chamber Ticket Sales Still Going Slowly

Ticket sales for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet continue this week with about 250 already sold, according to Roland Black, chamber manager.

Black said sales will probably end Monday.

The banquet, which will feature Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes as speaker, will be Wednesday night in the east dining hall of West Texas State University.

"Ticket sales are going fair but not good," Black said.

He said about 275 attended last year's banquet.

Tickets may be obtained from the chamber office, 655-3201, or from chamber directors.

LIEUTENANT GARY HARVEY of the Canyon Police Department discusses the "evidence vault" of the department with Cub Scouts Pete Brown, left, and Harley Baker as the boys were among local scouts touring the police department Tuesday afternoon.

Cub Scouts Tour Police Department Here Tuesday

Cub Scouts of Dens 4 and 5 of Pack 97 visited the Canyon Police Department Tuesday afternoon where Lieutenant Gary Harvey conducted a tour of the department facilities.

The scouts were shown the process of making arrests, fingerprinting suspects, detention of juveniles and viewed police guns and other equipment such as the two-way radio set up. They were also taken on a tour of the county jail facilities.

Scouts from Den 5 making the tour were Pete Brown, Tracy Byrd, Tom Carr, Matt Griffin, Mike Hayes, Jack Hayes and Bob McDowell. Den 4 scouts taking the tour were Bruce Pedersen, Tim Thompson, Marty Kuhlman, Greg Smith, Harley Baker and Steven Dertch.

Adults accompanying the scouts were Mrs. Charles Pedersen, Mrs. Hiram Carr, Mrs. Jean Thompson and Mrs. Elon Baker.

Wayne Wirt Attends Meet

Wayne Wirt of Wayne Wirt Electric in Canyon was one of about 400 western air conditioning installations in the United States passed the million-a-year mark for the first time in 1969.

Officials of Carrier Air Conditioning Company, which cosponsored the meeting, said some 1,050,000 central air conditioning systems for homes were sold compared to 847,000 the prior year. Total dollar volume of central residential systems sold during 1969, including installation cost, was estimated at about $1.2 billion.

Canyon Plays Financing Role Also

(Editor's Note: The following is the last in a four-part series on the High Plains Center for the Performing Arts).

Part IV

Canyon will also play a role in creating working funds for the new High Plains Center of the Performing Arts and the current estimated goal is $2,500 as the share for local residents.

Throughout the area the goal has been set at a grand total of $70,000 with an additional $2,500 coming in from expected memberships and $1,500 coming in from organizational memberships. Included in the town contributions drives will be 32 listed cities including such towns as Vega, Wellington, Tulia, Stratford, Stinnett, Spearman, Shamrock, Plainview, Petersburg, Memphis, Littlefield, Kress, Hereford, Happy, Borger, Canadian, Childress, Dahart, Dimmitt, Dumas, Fritch and several others.

The goal for Canyon's $2,500 will be raised in a local citywide fund drive for the project through contact of businesses and individuals.

Membership contributions amounting to a minimum of $5 will entitle the individual to membership in the center and will include a ticket to a membership performance by the center to be given in Amarillo. Organization membership fee will be a minimum $10, according to spokesmen for the center.

In addition, the center will raise funds through such anticipated productions as "Redhead", "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof" and "Aesop's Fables."

Anticipating an average attendance at these productions in several performances across the area on tours, it is hoped that the productions will bring in an estimated $32,325 to the budget of the center.

An educational program income salary based on the apprentice program for students and creative dramatics teacher training tuitions is expected to bring in another $3,900(estimated).

The estimated income for 1970 productions would thus be about $51,000 which also includes about $15,000 from contributions, grants and center projects. The total budget for the center in 1970 would thus be approximately $125,000 including area contributions.

It is hoped that during the campaign in Canyon that the center will pick up about 15 individual memberships, five organization memberships and the total city contribution of $2,500. The center will also plan a tour of the summer series to include Canyon, according to bulletin information provided by the center.

An annual Beaux Arts Ball in Amarillo and concurrent balls in the various communities of the area to benefit the center has been considered and it is proposed that the money raised in area communities be kept in that community to be spent for the touring and educational offerings from the center in that community. Another community suggestion has been an annual art auction to benefit the same purpose.

A matching fund grant in the amount of $5,150 has been made to the High Plains Center for the Performing Arts by the Texas Fine Arts Commission from National Endowment for the arts funds. The use of this money is restricted to administrative expense of the center and was received in two installments in October 1969 and January 1970.

The Texas State Legislature has appropriated $40,000 per year for the next biennium and this money will be dispensed by the Texas Fine Arts Commission on a matching fund basis and is restricted to "touring projects."

The High Plains Center for the Performing Arts has been assured that they "have a very good chance of getting another grant in the spring or summer of 1970." Due to the limited number of touring organizations in Texas.

In considering the objectives of the center it is important to keep in mind that "reaching the maximum income goals will give the program the necessary financial stability it needs to insure its continuance for the estimated three years it will take to make the center self-sustaining," according to the center's bulletin.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

10 resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

1 Higher resale value. Year after year. No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment.

2 Deep down value. Exclusives like flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.

3 Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs, Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system.

4 Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.

5 Massive interiors. Result? Room to stretch out or to sit tall. Chevrolet has more front leg room than any other car in its field.

6 Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.

7 A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other cars in Chevy's field don't have a Magic-Mirror finish because it sure keeps its shine.

8 Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five more engines available.

9 Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of fabrics. And of models. There are nine big Chevrolets alone.

10 America's favorite. Something a new "something else" can't claim. If actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you?

Buffalo Track Squad To Clovis For Four-Way NM Track Meet

West Texas State University's Buffalo track squad competes Saturday in a four-way track meet at Clovis, N. M., hosted by Eastern New Mexico University.

Other teams entered are New Mexico State and New Mexico Western.

The Buffaloes earned fifth place last week in the Border Olympics at Laredo with 22 1/2 points.

Coach Bob Kitchens hopes to have Mike Hodges, his talented freshman from Kermit, ready to run this week. Hodges, who has been slowed by a leg injury all season, will probably run the intermediate hurdles Saturday.

Distance runner Jim Hogan could miss the Saturday meet. He has a tooth infection and may not be ready to compete. The Buffalo, N. Y., freshman will be unable to workout until at least Thursday.

Performances at Laredo were hampered by cold weather and high winds.

Squad To Levelland Tourney

The Canyon Eagles' track squad journeys to Levelland Saturday for their first meet of the season, and Coach Jack York plans to take a careful look at several of his track and fielders.

"I haven't received any information at all about the Levelland meet," York said Tuesday. "But we're going up there to compete so it doesn't really matter."

The spikester coach said he had not finalized all his relay squads since "men are still coming out for track," but that he intended to take a careful look at his new sprint relay group at the Levelland meet. Running the sprint relay this year are David Erwin, Jerry Carlisle, John Hoover and Rich Edmondson.

York said he would also be watching the performances of miler Frank Belcher and high jumper Chris Olson, both of whom have been having good practice efforts.

The Levelland contest will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday. The Eagles take on Hereford the following Saturday there.

Tascosa Downs Eagles

The Eagle's baseball nine drew first blood in their opening game Monday against the Rebels of Tascosa High but erratic pitching gave the visitors a 4-1 victory in the contest.

Canyon scored in the first inning when second sacker Randell Hicks got on base on a Rebel error, then starting pitcher Keith Keeling singled him home. The sharp rap was about the last bright spot of Keeling's day as he walked a run in in the fourth inning to tie the contest.

Lynn Salmon took the mound after 3-and-a-quarter innings only to find himself quickly in hot water. The young pitcher had a wild pitch get away in the fifth with the bases loaded, scoring one run, then Tascosa earned two runs in the seventh to wrap the game in victory ribbons.

Tascosa scored four runs on four hits with two errors while the Eagles managed one run on four hits and two errors.

"Walking 11 men is what hurt us," said Coach B. B. Kendrick. "But we played them pretty even until the last inning."

Kendrick said his pitchers, both of whom played varsity basketball, were not yet in shape and that he was busy "looking for pitching relief."

The coach said Mickey Comer, now playing right field, may have a chance for some mound action when the Eagles meet Amarillo High today in Amarillo.

"One of the problems we faced against Tascosa is they suited up 25 kids and we just had 13," Kendrick said. "They're a 4-AAAA school and they can do it. We just don't have anyone else to play."

Keeling picks up the loss for the Tascosa tilt with Salmon likely to supplement Comer on the mound Thursday.

The Thursday baseball action was moved up one day from the scheduled Friday meeting because of the regional teacher's meeting.

Man Held On Charge

A 25-year-old Amarillo man is being held in Randall County jail in lieu of $5,000 bail, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor under the age of 18.

Shelby Burgin of 4117 Cline was arraigned Monday morning in Randall County Court by Special Judge Stanley Carruth. Burgin had been held in Randall County jail since Friday under protective custody.

The defendant is charged with harboring a 12-year-old runaway female from Friday, Feb. 20 until the following Tuesday. The indictment also alleges he "made alcoholic beverages available" to the minor.

The girl signed a statement saying Burgin allegedly picked her up following a teen dance Friday night and she stayed at his home until she caught a bus to Tucumcari Tuesday and then went on to Albuquerque.

Randall County Assistant District Attorney Mike Hinton said the defendant was placed in protective custody after the father of the girl allegedly told officers he would kill him.

WT Baseballers To Try Again To Open Season

The undefeated West Texas State baseball team makes another attempt Tuesday afternoon to open its home season.

The Buffaloes of Coach Bob Sloan meet Panhandle State in a doubleheader which was postponed from last Tuesday because of cold weather. Game times are 1 and 3 p.m.

West Texas State opened the season last week by sweeping twin bills from University of Texas at Arlington and Southern Methodist on the road.

The Buffaloes play a four-game series at Abilene Christian Friday and Saturday.

Skirt Length . . .

Miss Suella Edward, 18, a freshman from Tulia said she felt maxi's were too long and were "a tacky length," and then added that midi's were also "tacky."

Miss Edward also cast a careful eye at mini-skirts, saying "I think you can get them too short."

"I wear mine 'nearly'," she said. "It depends on the size of the girl. I don't like the micro-minis because you can't be comfortable in them."

Mrs. Frankie Moon, 21, a junior from Houston said she liked mini-skirts but "my husband won't let me wear them to class." She said flatly that she did not like the midi's and she felt the maxi's "look sloppy."

Miss Jill Bevers, 20, a junior from Pennsylvania, said mini-skirts "depend on the girl who wears them and where she wears them. I don't wear them often."

Of midi's, Miss Bevers said "I think they're cumbersome and I think it is going from one extreme to the other just for the sake of going from one extreme to the others."

The junior said she felt maxi's are appropriate for evening wear "but I don't think they are for daily wear.'

Mrs. Donna Murdock, 22, a junior from Kansas, said she thought the midi's were "inevitable."

"Skirts can't go up anymore so they have to come down," she said. "I think they are good for a few variations.'

Mrs. Murdock said her mini's were "not real short because my husband likes them on other people but not on me." She said maxi's "have their place but I think they would be kind of awkward."

"They might be all right for school but they are so bulky you couldn't do housework," she added.

Mrs. Cindy Orr, 20, a sophomore from Lubbock said she thought "mini's are absolutely fantastic, I love them."

"You do have a hose problem though," she said. "That is with the tops of your hose showing."

Speaking of the new midi-length, Mrs. Orr said "I think they're probably the newest and best thing on the market. The maxis are practical for our part of the country, especially in the wintertime. I wear them to school."

Parents and grandparents took a more moderate stand on the skirt problem. Many chose the middle ground, opting for a skirt which strikes the wearer about knee level or just above.

One mother from southwest of the city said "it is important to feel in style, but it is also important to feel comfortable."

She said her four teenage daughters--ages 13 through 19--have discussed skirt lengths with other students and tend to wear their skirts just above the knee.

The housewife said she dislikes either extreme.

"We need an in-between for comfort and looks," she said.

She considers midi skirts unbecoming.

The father of a 9-year-old daughter said he is "a middle-of-the-roader" and likes women's and girls' dresses to hit about mid-knee.

A local mother of a six-year-old daughter, said that she would approve of her daughter wearing the mini-skirt if it is still in fashion when she becomes a teenager.

"But I'd want her to stay within reason and wear the pantyhose too," she said.

"I surely don't want fashions to go back to the long mid-calf styles because of seeing pictures of the past, and they were ugly. I think the mini-skirt is nice looking on the young with cute legs, but when the women reach 30ish or older they should not wear the mini-skirt but maybe wear the skirt length just about 1-2 inches above the knee.

Another mother said "you should dress in what becomes you most--whether it be a mini, mid-calf, just above the knee or a maxi-length.

She said in time fashions will gradually return to the mid-calf, but she considers the short mini-skirts of today attractive on those who have pretty legs to be shown. Part of the style should depend on comfort and the condition of the legs, according to the mother.

She does not like the combination of mini-skirt and maxi-coat but thinks that either may be worn fashion-by combining the two as mini's or as maxi's.

Her daughter, age 14, wears the mini-skirt "because it is the fashion" and she personally likes the maxi-coat for herself.

Another dad said he just doesn't "like the maxi-length at all except for formal wear and the mini-length depends on who is wearing it and what they look like in it."

The father, who has daughters age 10 and 12, said he is "just fixing to learn about the lengths of women's dresses" and doesn't recall what length his wife wore when they were dating but thought that it was just below the knee, which was the fashion.

With two daughters, age 16 and 17, another father commented that he doesn't like "either the mini or maxi but prefers the dress length at the knee varying an inch either way."

He said his daughters sometimes wear mini's "more mini" than he likes but he figures that is true of a lot of fathers.

From a grandmother's view, a local matron said she just doesn't really know what to think of the short mini-length dresses of today. She said her granddaughters wear their dresses even shorter than what her own daughter (their mother) wore as a teenager.

"Of course mine were even longer than that in the day's past when I was a teenager," she said. Asked which length she preferred, the grandmother said she likes "the average length (about the knee) better than any other style."

A grandfather with 18 grandchildren and one great-grandchild said he likes "the longer skirt lengths" and considers it ordinary and proper to wear the skirt about the knee, even though he does like them even longer.

State Coaching Clinic. The clinic which will feature Kansas City Chief coach Hank Stram, is slated Friday and Saturday in Buffalo Field House.

Kerbel, at the start of spring drills, faces the problems of filling some big holes in his ball club, both offensively and defensively. Gone from last year's club is the entire center of the offensive line--guards Dag Azam and Earl Clardy and center Joe Kerbel, Jr.

In the running for the guard position will be letterman Reginal Bassett, converted tackle Dale Donoho and converted defensive guard Gary Rusten. Letterman Jerry Cryer will probably fill the vacated center position. Center letterman Sid Goff will be given a shot at a tackle position, but it will be several more days before he is able to take part in contact work.

Goff suffered a mild concussion last week while helping unload horses from a trailer. One of the horses kicked the trailer door into Goff.

Wayne Adams returns at one of the offensive tackle positions, while the coaches are looking at converted defenders Neil Thomsen and Joe Fiola at that post.

"Ed Holwig looked impressive in his first day and we are expecting him to have a good spring and fall," said Kerbel of his young quarterback from Highspirr, Pa.

Holwig, 6-4 and 210, was red-shirted last fall during his sophomore year and will have three years of eligibility remaining.

"I also hope Clarence Redic will be able to get his scholastic problems solved this summer," said Kerbel. Redic started at quarterback last fall, but was suspended from school this semester for scholastic reasons. It is possible for him to get eligible during summer school.

Kerbel was pleased with his first look at the Buffalo secondary.

"Youngsters such as Larry Matthews from Amarillo, Charles Horton from Rosebud and Mike Hrncir from San Antonio performed well yesterday in the secondary," he said.

The Buffalo coach was pleased with the early efforts of linebacker Harold Stuart, Bill McKinney and Stan Hansen. The 240-pound Hansen was slowed last fall with a knee injury but has been returned to the middle linebacker post he held as a sophomore. He started at defensive tackle last fall.

"We will have a new look in the defensive front after moving Hansen back to linebacker," said Kerbel.

Transfers Thomas Tate and Alex Davis, letterman Charlie Reade and sophomore-to-be Chuck Wilbur of Wellington are playing the defensive tackle positions. Returning regular Rick Fangman of Hereford, sophomore Steve Jones, a squadman, and transfers Manuel Gomez and David Denny are at the guard posts.

The Buffalo spring drills climax Thursday, April 16, with the annual Varsity-Alumni game in Buffalo Bowl. That clash is set for 7:30 p.m. judges, but with a decrease of $2,500 of the board is abolished, his salary would be considerably less.

"We can't just cut that salary," Dowlen said.

"The election can't be held this year, anyway," Brown answered.

Following their discussions, the commissioners signed a prepared petition to do away with the board.

In other business, the commissioners opened bids from three data processing firms for computerizing the county's tax rolls.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, was instructed to study the bids and submit a recommendation to the commission.

Sheriff L. S. "Slim" Johnston was authorized to advertise for bids for three new cars.

Dr. Duley Moore was reappointed Randall County health officer for another one-year term.

The commission authorized the purchase for Precinct 1 of a used motor grader for $13,870 with trade-in.

Commissioners will not meet next Monday.

Youth of the Canyon Assembly of God Church are planning a sale of corn dogs and home barbecued beans to be held Friday night at 7 o'clock at the church. All residents are invited to participate.

study," Dr. Smith said.

The vice president said Dole recommended the group contact other governmental units, such as NASA and the Department of Defense, which are interested in helium research.

"They may be interested in sponsoring some research in and with helium and might finance certain projects," Dr. Smith said. "For instance, the Navy is one of the biggest users of helium in their undersea exploration."

In mid-February, the government announced a phase-out of the Amarillo center.

Dr. Smith said Dole explained one reason for the phase-out.

"According to Dole, one of the reasons they had decided to discontinue the research center under government sponsorship was that they felt it was more appropriately done in a university setting," Dr. Smith said. "This really was certainly in line with our thinking."

Dr. Smith said Dole was very encouraging to the group and their proposal.

"Dole was very sincere and seemed most interested in the same objectives we are," he said. "I'm sure he'll give it a very thorough study and all the breaks he can."

Dr. Smith said the next move is to wait for Rep. Price to set up meetings of the Panhandle group with representatives of NASA and the Department of Defense where the proposal will again be presented.

"It may turn out that several governmental agencies could become interested in it," he said.

WTSU's proposal basically calls for moving the research facilities in Amarillo to the Canyon campus, possibly in conjunction with the Killgore Research Center.

Financing could be done on a contract basis with WTSU providing the facilities.

zation."

Dr. Kahler said he backs President Nixon's current policy of replacing American fighting men in Vietnam with Vietnamese soldiers.

Moving to Thailand, Dr. Kahler said there is a threat of invasion of the small U. S. ally from the Laotians, and North Vietnamese.

The professor also outlined aspects of foreign policy in other parts of Southeast Asia and Far East.

He warned that there is threat of invasion into South Korea by the North Koreans.

"This is the 20th anniversary of their attack in 1950," he said.

He also noted that the North Korean leader has reached the age of 60, "the time when most men have completed their life work."

Dr. Kahler warned of a "genuine danger of renewed aggression" on the part of the North Koreans.

"The main deterrent is the Army of the Republic of Korea," he said. "This is the most important factor."

Of the Middle East crisis, Dr. Kahler said basic U. S. policy is to keep from being drawn into the feud and at the same time to deter the Russian influence in the area.

Dr. Kahler said current rumblings between Communist China and Russia over border and territorial boundaries are very real disputes.

"The question here is how far will Communist China choose to press their border claims against the Russians," he said.

The outlook for the rest of the week calls for mostly cloudy skies through Saturday with scattered rain Friday. Highs for the two days are expected to be in the middle 40s.

For Sunday, the bureau sees partly cloudy skies with high temperatures in the 60s.

'Up From Depression' Is Fourth Book Review

"Up From Depression," by Dr. Leonard Cammer, was reviewed Monday evening by local counselor and writer, Mrs. Ann Brown.

The meeting was sponsored by the Canyon Council of Federated Club Women in an effort to raise funds for the Canyon City Library Building Fund.

Dr. Cammer has practiced psychiatry in New York City since 1947, has acted as consultant and lecturer for graduate schools throughout the United States, has written an "Outline Of Psychiatry" which has been in continual use in medical schools throughout the world since 1962, and founded Gracie Square Hospital in New York City. "Up From Depression" is an excellent reference book and is written in terms that a layman can understand.

Mrs. Brown stated that mental illness is reaching epidemic proportions in the United States. One in ten persons will spend some time in a mental hospital; one in four would benefit from it; and one in three suffers emotional problems severe enough to interfere with his normal functioning in life.

Mental illness usually begins with depression. Depression is not an outgrowth of modern times. It was known to man from the beginning of recorded history. Many occurrences are mentioned in the Bible.

Depression plays no favorites, can strike any person, and is contagious. It can be as painful as any physical illness. It begins with the blues and ends up in agitation or hopelessness. The neural circuits are hampered and the person suffers physically, and may have a nervous breakdown. The person is afraid he will go insane, pass it on to his children, or kill himself.

Everyone is depressed at times, and this is normal. This book is not about blue moods, but real depression, a serious and widely prevalent disorder of which the average person knows little or nothing; and though it yields readily to treatment, it is an illness that goes untreated most of the time.

Life must have purpose and meaning, Mrs. Brown stated, and man's purpose in life is to glorify God. When he does not find this purpose, he is in trouble. The depressed person has lot his why for living, and has four choices if he does not seek help; attempt suicide, stupefy himself with alcohol, drug himself into oblivion with drugs, or withdraw into an isolated way of life.

Dr. Cammer outlines the causes of depression, its symptoms, the care that the family can give to the depressed person, the various forms of treatment available--and, above all, defines and explains the nature of an illness that is to most people baffling and mysterious, but which can, like other illnesses, be cured.

Mrs. Brown explained that each person is a physical, spiritual, and emotional self. A depression can strike one of these areas and spill into the others. Each person has a breaking point and should be aware of it. When a depression strikes, its source must be discovered. An endogenous depression is caused by a physical disturbance. A reactive depression is caused by a loss of some sort. A neurotic depression is an emotional illness caused by a rigid, maladjusted personality that cannot adjust to change.

Depressions vary in intensity, duration, and recurrence. Each is characterized by a sense of worthlessness, and an inability to make sound judgments. Decisions made by depressed persons should not be trusted. When a person becomes seriously depressed, he should consult his pastor, family doctor, or professional counselor.

If necessary, the family doctor can make referrals for psychiatric help.

Dr. Cammer's closing words are: "We all mourn the waste of human resources when precious lives are lost to accident and the perils of war. But depression is one cause of suffering and death that I believe can be thwarted, once it is seen that, like other illnesses, it yields readily to the power of healing. The depressed person can be saved. He must be, because no life or right to health should go by default."

Classical Guitarist To Perform Tonight At CHS Auditorium

Rey de la Torre, classical guitarist, will present a concert tonight, Thursday, at 8 p.m. in the Canyon High School auditorium under the sponsorship of the Canyon Community Concerts Association.

Concert admittance is by membership in the Canyon or other Community Concerts Associations of the area.

The classical guitarist has been a master of instrument since the age of ten. At age 14, he left his native Havana to continue his education in Spain where he studied guitar under the virtuoso, Miguel Llobet. At 16, he made his debut in Barcelona and scored a resounding success that launched him on a concert career. In 1941, he made his Town Hall debut and since that date has toured all over the globe.

In addition to emerging to the foreground of concert guitarists, Rey de la Torre has also recorded extensively and his current Epic recordings are among the country's best sellers in this field. One of his most famous television successes was the telecast of Garcia Lorca's provocative drama "The House of Bernada Alba."
